

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

(0014) Finally!...No longer do teachers, librarians, or anyone reading to a group have to stop to show the pictures to their audience. A unique idea has been presented for invention that allows the audience to always see the pictures of a picture book while the story is being read from the back two pages of the book! Numbered tabs allow smooth turning from one picture to the next while continuing to read the story from those back pages. There is also no need to remove the picture from the audience's view to answer questions. The pictures are also on the back pages along with the words.
